Online at uugalveston.org*We welcome the full range of human diversity, that is, age, race, gender, ability, sexual orientation, and ethnicity.Please join us in June for Sunday services as we explore the theme of "Humility."

Consider these words by Rev. Rick Warren in his inaugural prayer for Barack Obama:

"When we presume that our greatness and our prosperity is ours alone, forgive us. When we fail to treat our fellow human beings and all the earth with the respect they deserve, forgive us. And as we face these difficult days ahead, may we have a new birth of clarity in our aims, responsibility in our actions, humility in our approaches, and civility in our attitudes – even when we differ."June 3: "On Blowing Our Own Horn" by Rev. Bob Tucker"Early in life I had to choose between honest arrogance and hypocritical humility. I chose the former and have seen no reason to change."

— Frank Lloyd Wright

Bob is a native of Minnesota and has served churches in South Dakota, Minnesota, Texas and Kansas. He was, for twenty-eight years, the Senior Minister of First Congregational Church of Houston. He is Executive Director Emeritus of the Foundation for Contemporary Theology.

There is something special about places at the end of the line. Those communities tend to be more tolerant and relaxed than most. Moreover, those folks are ready and able to take on difficult issues. The openness of this church stands as a bastion for possibilities and not limitations. You are not just from this island, but of this island.

by Rev. Randy Partain

So much of our anger and frustration seems to stem from things not going the way we think they should go. People don't do what we think they should. Circumstances don't work out the way we think they should. Do we spend so much energy on how things should be that we miss the opportunity to engage with reality as things are? Letting go of how we think things should be might take some humility on our part. Rev. Partain describes himself as a composer, pianist, creative thinker, and theologian. After receiving a doctorate degree in music composition and after working for many years as a music minister in various Christian churches, he became more open about his (atheist) Humanist beliefs. He is passionate about meaningful, authentic community, and he earned a Master of Divinity degree (as an open atheist at an evangelical Christian seminary). He became endorsed as Humanist Celebrant, instead. He encourages people to think about what they believe and to live out their beliefs meaningfully.
